Senior Song

I

We pledge now our love for our old W.-B.,
We vow to be ever true;
We pledge, too, our love for our dear Senior Class—
God bless them, the old and the new.
We'll hold high those colors, the Gold and the Blue;
Our banners shall kiss the sky.
Our faith all resisting, our goal for life's best,
Our motto, "To do or die."

II

The joys we have here will not fly as the leaves;
They'll last us life's journey through;
And the love we have now for the friendships we've made
Will live in our memories, too;
And though we must part from each other some day,
As Seniors have parted before,
The glorious spirit of old '32
Will linger for evermore.

SPORTS SUMMARY, 1931-32

Ward-Belmont, as an outstanding athletic organization, had a most successful and interesting year in the realm of sports. Its accomplishments for the year '31-'32 will go down in red letters on the sporting annals for the season.

Tennis slipped into the limelight at the beginning of school and after several weeks of strenuous training and much practicing the singles tournament was played off. Each round held a number of thrilling matches up to and including the finals. Most notable of these included the Cherrington-Colley, Phillips-Cline, and Vincent-Nance matches. After many surprising up-sets and set-ups Vincent and Beecher took the court for the final encounter. Playing three gruelling sets, the former was victorious. Another feather in the cap of the Eccowasins.

The Fall Riding Show, although small, was brilliant with Nance and Sitton taking the honors. Archery came in at this point for its share of attention. Again the day students were successful with the Eccowasins placing first; Agoras, second; and A. K's, third. Hart, Agora, shot high score, winning individual honors.

Hockey covered a period of several weeks, but during the two weeks previous to Thanksgiving one could hardly breathe, eat or sleep anything else. At least one game a day was played off, and such games! Penta Tau's and Tri K's came through the preliminaries with high scores. Anti-Pan's and T. C's tied for third place with two wins and a tie each, which necessitated an extra game which also resulted in another tie. The annual Thanksgiving game was as usual with its horde of spectators, cold wind and cheering mob. It was a duel between two very evenly matched teams resulting in a perpetual drive from one twenty-five yard line to the other. During the second quarter the black and white, after a desperate rush at goal, netted a marker which proved to be the sole one of the day. Try as they would, the grey and rose were unable to penetrate the powerful defense. Another "Turkey Day" special ended with Tri K again champion.

After the holidays, basketball began in earnest. The preliminaries interrupted by examinations were finally completed with A. K's and Tri K's victorious. Then ensued a game that was a battle royal. The A. K. guards and Tri K forwards were superb in their respective positions. The first half went nip and tuck, but after the rest period the Tri Ks' offense, headed by "Judge," started clicking, making possible the 40-28 victory.

A. K's and Penta Tau's tied for laurels in the swimming meet. The diving was outstanding with "Dick" Stewart, who held individual high score, winning. The Penta Tau relay team clipped off the seconds one by one as a brilliant conclusion.

Probably the most inclusive athletic activity of the year was the annual Gym Demonstration held in conjunction with the Apparatus Meet. After the prep and Senior-Mid exhibitions a large group demonstrated their prowess on the rings, parallel bars, horses, and ropes. Kathleen O'Donnell was high point entrant and her club, Tri K, won the meet by a large margin.

At this point interest was divided, due to the various athletic activities so close together. The Anti-Pan squad walked away with bowling honors with a total score of 1543; Angkor, second, with 1486 points. On Senior-Senior-Middle Day "Miss Athlete" was in her glory. It is a day when she reigns supreme and her rule is marked by good, clean sportsmanship and "don't-give-up-the-ship" teams who fight to the end. The Prometheans, however, proved too powerful for their valiant foes, the Vagabonds, but the Senior-Middles went down in defeat gloriously just as the Seniors modestly accepted their victory.

The Dancing Department presented its annual recital which was most interesting and well done. It had a decided modernistic note, having several of the modern German type of dances on the program.

The Penta Tau's, Tri K's, and A. K's swam through the preliminary Water Polo games like fish. The Tri K's and A. K's clashed in the one semi-finals match with the former winner by a small margin. The Penta Tau's then met the victors in one of the most brilliant of athletic contests during the year. The Penta Tau's came through, after many a spectacular play, on the right end of a 13-10 score.

The annual Spring Riding Show drew a large number of enthusiasts who appreciated to the utmost the high grade of horsemanship demonstrated. Tri K's won the cup with 38 points and Emmy Lou Phillips took the individual honors of the Show. The advanced and "baby" jumping, and driving were outstanding.

Spring archery drew a large group of participants as did track and baseball and the tennis doubles tournament. Some excellent records were made in track, the tennis was exciting and hard fought, and baseball stood in the usual top place among campus activities.

All in all the season was marked by enthusiasm, good sportsmanship, and hard work followed by success.

OCCASIONS

MILESTONES 1932

A steady stream of cabs deposited us all at "the lions" of South Front where we were met by unfamiliar girls who, before the week was out, had become our friends and had taken us many times down the flagstone walks to the club houses for the whirl of rushing. Then came our decisions, our servitude as "fags," and after initiation we were no longer "new" but rather identified members of one big group beginning a happy year together.

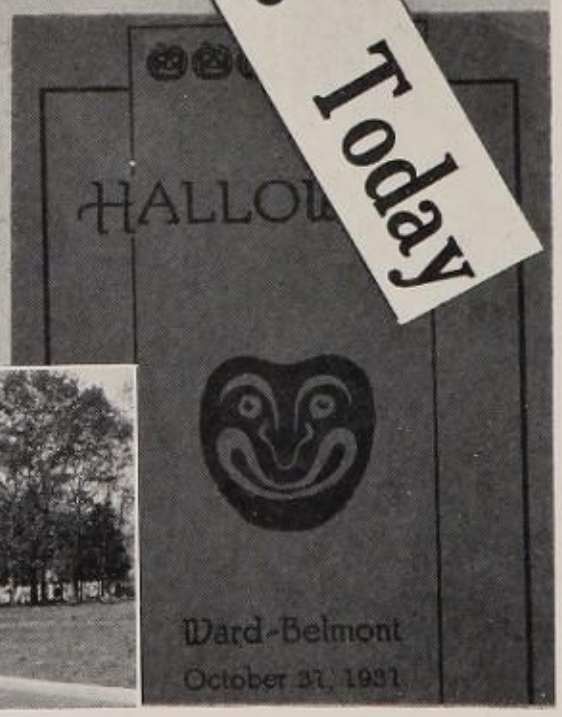
— SUBSCRIBE TO THE HYPHEN —

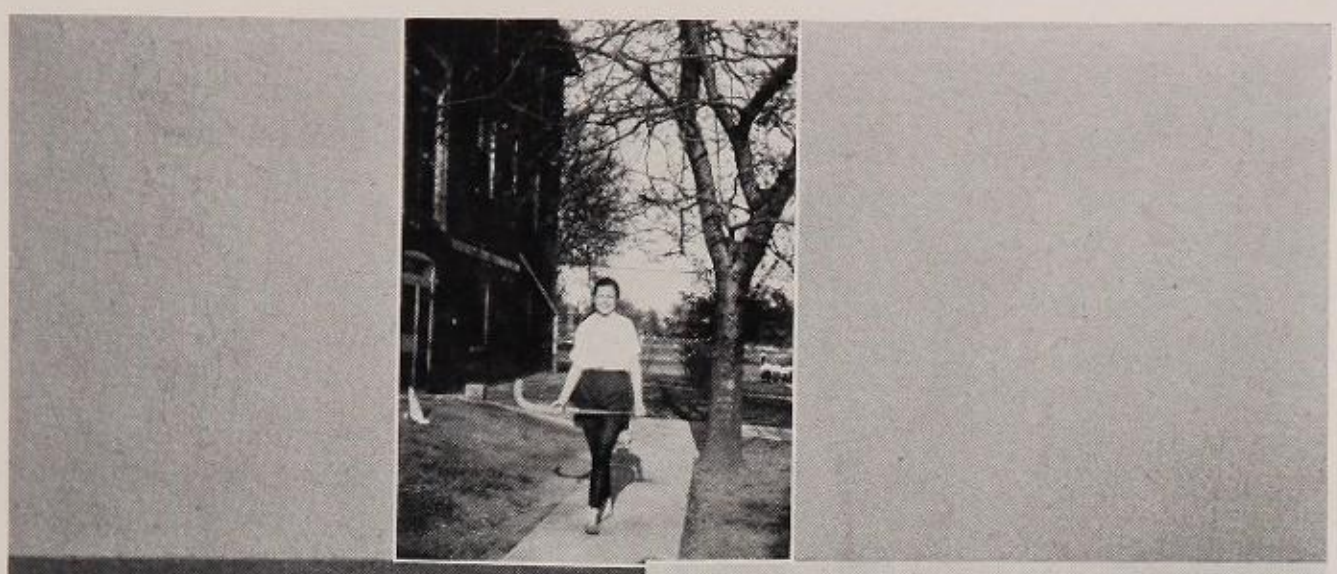
100 PER CENT CO-OPERATION ASKED IN HYPHEN DRIVE

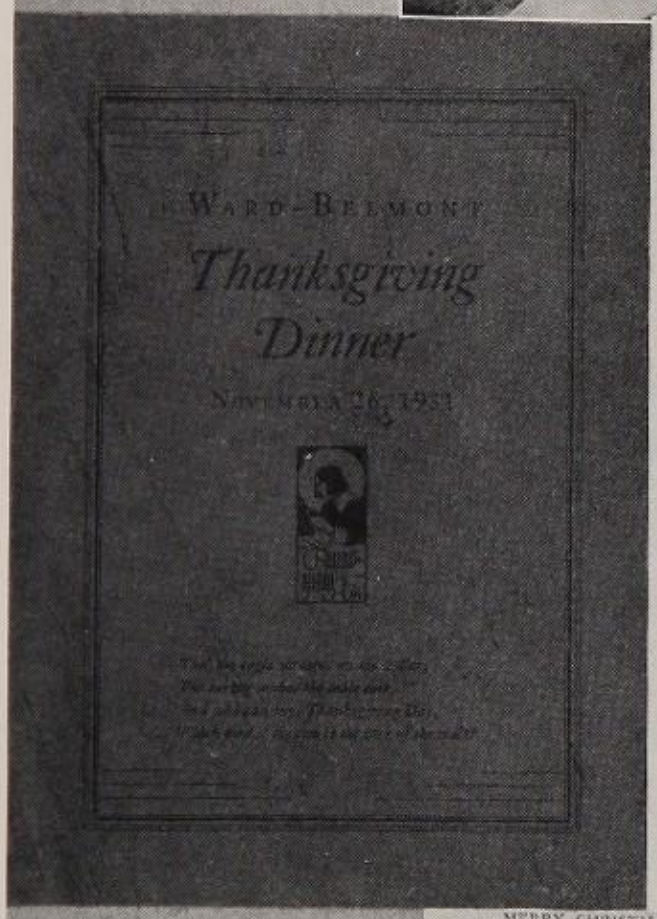
Today one of the most important events of the year is to take place. The HYPHEN staff has worked harder than ever before to make a perfect edition for this occasion, and it seems truly possible when we say that we expect and hope to have a better HYPHEN than during any year of its

Annual Hyphen Drive Opens Today

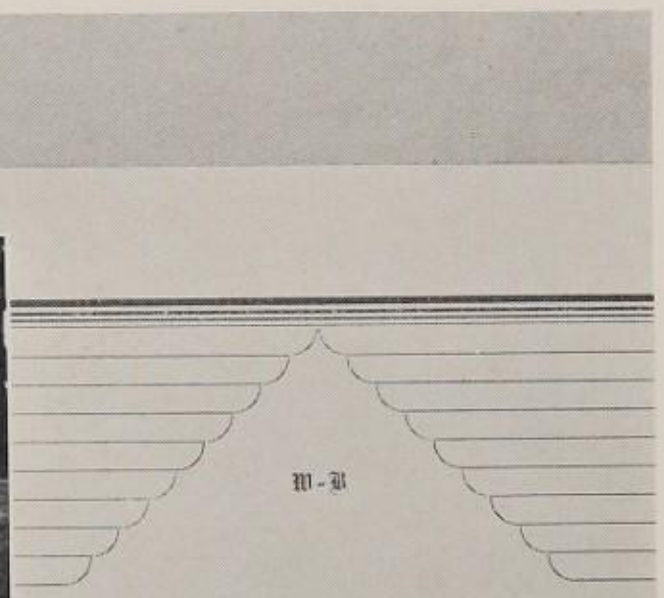
The Hyphen drive gave us all an opportunity to keep up on "campus doings." Very soon, after the activities of the Seniors and their week, the other classes were formally organized and recognized on the steps of "Ac," pledging that they and Ward-Belmont "both giving would be blessed." Followed classes, warm autumn days, and the end of October with the fun of the traditional Halloween Dinner.







The first club sport of the season was hockey in which the Tri K's were victorious, defeating the Penta Tau's. The final scramble was on Thanksgiving morning, and that night, with flags, red, white and blue streamers, soft lights, and the "Bells of Ward-Belmont" we remembered the "blessing of the Pilgrims on the first Thanksgiving Day." Almost unbelievably soon, when we think of how endless three months seemed, there came the T. C. Christmas dance, the shopping in crowded Nashville streets. The night before Homegoing was the Servants' Program, followed by the dormitory parties and the Seniors carolling from hall to hall in a mist, most unlike some of the snowy holiday seasons at home.



After Christmas it was "back to regulation" and settling down for five months of it. The weather was cold—but not very much so. Concerts were scheduled at intervals and one of the best was the appearance of Kathryn Meisle. The dances were in full swing, one of which was the X. L. French Cabaret. Then came George Washington's Birthday dinner, followed by the Senior minuet, one of the favorite and most dignified of our traditions.

Basketball, won by the Tri K's, caused much excitement. Then came the Milestones campaign which was concluded by the dinner on St. Patrick's night. Meanwhile, feeling for Senior - Senior - Middle Day was beginning to bubble and the Senior - Middles became "snarky" while the Seniors looked on amusedly. Our impression of the Day of Days was color, spirit, and flashy playing. At this time we welcomed the girls who returned for Homecoming and the campus was in a whirl.

Spring called and there was just no time for studying except on the way to class. The Seniors, as the guests of the Senior-Middles, spent a delightful Evening in Paris at the annual banquet which the Vagabonds gave to the victors. The campus became a popular place for "sunning" under guise of books, and the tea room business increased. And "Toney," are you taking the little girl to Council?

AN EVENING IN PARIS

Along came the summer dresses in the box from home. Spring sports included baseball, with Miss McEttrick giving the track aspirants a work-out, and a couple of entrants in the Riding Show seemed cheerful. The Junior Middles had their class picnic at Bonny Brook, the beginning of the final flurry of picnics, teas, and gala events before exams, Commencement, and HOME.

And Scenes Like This Will Be No More This Year

Bridges

Strange how many bridges there are
To tie things together:

Rings—bridging precariously
Lives of men and women;
Laughter—bridging
Gaps in conversation;
Glances—affording adequate
Means of thought transportation;
Lips—bridges between
Lovers and Paradise;
Lamps—between
Student and learning.

Too many bridges—
Everything a means to an end.
Space offering itself a pathway
Between a World and Uncertainty.

—Ruth Black.

The sky was a blur of small blinking stars
All seeming to try to outshine one another
In order that they might be noticed by a splendid star
That surpassed them in beauty and in brilliance.
I was one of those little aspiring stars,
Wanting just a glance from you, yet hoping for more—
Then you saw me and gradually learned to love me
And I joyously shone alone by your side in a cloudless sky.
Thinking that we would always be together—
Not realizing that time changes everything.
Then as the world rotated, unceasingly,
I saw the little star drift nightly further away
From the position that was the envy of all others.
And so we will be, my dear, caught by the everlastingly
Rotating wheel of time, and torn apart in spite of all
That we may try to do. I shall drop back into the mob
As one of those unnoticed, with nothing of beauty in me
When the reflection of your personality and love are gone!

—Dorothy Stewart.

Stage Fright

To some of us
Death will bring
Realization
Like that of a child,
Who, stricken with stage fright,
Remembers everything
Except the last line.

—Helen Conley.

An intimate silence
Enveloped us
Who hovered around the mountain fire,
All innocent of the spell the leaping flames
Fed by imaginary
Wolves and owls and cats
Within the coals and burning wood,
Where casting over all its flickering light
Could seize.
Each of us gazing into the throbbing heat
Was far out on the winds
Living over our most precious memories
Or looking forward to naive delights
When free.
You sat above me.
Gently intertwining 'round your fingers
Tendrils of my hair
That had strayed from their proper place.
What were your thoughts?
Was the soft and dreamy smile upon your lips
A tender reminiscence?
Or were you looking forward with delight
To another meeting with the one you love?
Were there no thoughts of me within your mind?
I could not help but envy
The unknown person who, all innocent,
Brought to you a moment of exquisite happiness
When there was no other thought to take its place.
Would that I could feel
That sometime in the future
I could cause for you just such a moment;
But I would be selfish and wish to know
So that I might delight within my heart
That I alone had given you the happiness
Which belongs to you as perfume to the yellow jasmine.

Then suddenly as if loathe to follow long that trend of thought
You urgently tossed the fingered lock
And softly sighed—it had passed,
That dream of yours.
The lower logs, eaten by the burning fire,
Thus unable to stand the weight of others,
Crashed
Breaking the delicate web that held us thus suspended
In remembrances.

—Louise Lathrop.

I saw a white magnolia petal moon—
But as I stretched my thoughts to it, I heard
Your half-held sob. Hands of the night wind stirred
And smoothed the furrowed sky. But all too soon
I saw your tears. So small a thing it seems,
But it can call me from my spring-night dreams.
Oh, easier could I stand on my tiptoes
And pluck a dozen of such moons for you,
And keep them fresh with drip of star-light dew,
Than shield you, little child, from such small woes.
So I can only hold to you my hand,
And say to you, "I think I understand."

—Dorris Fish.

Wild wind, swishing through the tree-tops
Bending sturdy oaks like willows,
Tearing up houses for pleasure,
Turning all the little silver leaves inside out.

Huge clouds filled with black rain-drops
Drift crazily about in the sky,
Glorious—awesome—approach of a storm
Combining dread—and promise—and fear.

Then someone came and closed the windows.
They turned on the lights.
All the glorious, lowering black was shut out
And the swirling, swishing, wild wind was tamed.

—Retta Reed.

PENSTAFF

A Loss

A poet
Like many other men
Bent over a lily,
Drank of its life-blood
And was glorified.

"I will make a song!"
Said he in ecstasy,
Contact with the freshness
Of dew on the white flower
Arousing in him exuberance.
And while he made his new song,
A beautiful song,
Whose very lines were prayers of joy—
While he made the song
Destined to sanctify his name
On the lips of men,
The lily lay,
Unnoticed in his pocket.

Days after he had donned
His garment of fame,
He found in an old seedy pocket
A withered lily,
And he cast it away,
Forgetting
That he had named it once
A thing of God.
But when it was lost to him,
His heart was wrenched by pain,
Drenched with sorrow,
Like a parting with a dearest friend.

He called it a part of Life
And turned to new things on the morrow.

—Jane Moore.

The Music of the Hunt

Liquid music—
The long echoing call of a horn.
Combined harmony—
Deep-voiced, speckled hounds.
Easy syncopation—
The long, low canter of a hack.
Familiar music—
The saddle squeak and "horsey" talk.
Accented notes—
Red-coated huntsmen on a gray-green hillside.
Mad rhythm—
Thundering hoofs and wild exhilaration of a jump.
Soft minor—
The limp body of a fox stretched on the cold ground.
Liquid music—
The long, re-echoing call of a horn.

—Rubie Battey

Fire

Fire!
Red flames lick
The grey veiled winter sky,
Tear at its drabness with jagged fingers
Like a halo
Their crude brightness.
Fused with leaden mists
Crowns the burning building
With a smoky glow.
A creeping insidious thing at first
It gnaws away
And weakens
Walls and floors.
Then wild
Like a caged thing set free
From its frail bonds
Of slated roof and timbered eaves
It leaps triumphantly
Flaring
Glaring
To high heaven.

As ribbons of water
Crystal and wavering
Arch futilly upward
Failing to lessen
The thundering glory
The orange and gold
Symphony of fire
It laughs—
This roaring, ruthless creature—
And sends forth
Hissing, steaming answers of scorn and defiance.

"Man of today
Man of this Invincible Age
Of science and super-civilization
Tell me now,
Can you still be confident
Self-complacent
Can you still be overwhelmingly proud?"
So it jeers and sends crashing to the ground
Stones, cement, and bits of iron fretwork.

Silently the human masses stand
Impotent
They watch the building before them
Turn into charred ruins, a piteous shell of what was.

—Virginia Walker.

Radical Changes Take Place in Past Twenty Years

As this issue is dedicated to the class of '32, perhaps it would be well to mention the changes that have taken place during the twenty years since that class has graduated. The school itself stands as firmly as it did in the first days of its founding, but a great many of its most resolutely established rules have been abolished. The members of the aforementioned class will disbelieve such a statement, but you must remember that there has been an interval of twenty years since you first entered school and that progress has not been standing still.

First of all, Miss M. Liz Beth Kay-See has been our Dean for the last four years; and although her standard has been slightly rigorous, the students as a whole feel that she has proved herself a most popular dean. She has almost entirely lifted the restrictions placed upon the girls in regard to social privileges, for she is a firm believer in the new code stating that the modern youth must be given freedom in which to think and live.

There are, however, a few rules which the dean and the faculty (who are old-fashioned enough to think it necessary to have any rules at all) deem needful to keep the school running on a smooth basis; and for the enlightenment of the class of '52 and for the amazement of the class of '32, we are going to publish a few of these rules.

1. Every girl must be equipped with a car of some kind so that the school will not be troubled with transportation problems.

2. The girls may have their private planes in school, but they are requested not to land on the grass (remember the excitement over Mrs. Charlie's grass) but on the landings made for that purpose.

3. No girl will be permitted to wear stockings except in the coldest weather and every girl will be forced to wear the brief gym rompers about the campus, because the health department has decreed it the only sane method of warding off diseases.

4. It will be a serious Council offense to sign in and out as it interferes with the already strenuous duties of the house mothers.

5. Every girl must attend the regular classes in spending, for it is essential that all Ward-Belmont students learn the value of wise spending.

6. Every girl will be provided with a date once a week for it has become too probable that modern youth is overbashful in the presence of young men.

Thus you may gather from the rules mentioned above, that Ward-Belmont has become extremely lenient in comparison with its strictness in the past. But then again you must remember that many years have passed, and that with the passing of those years the old rules and regulations have become useless. You must not feel (class of '32) that your school has lowered its reputation because it has become modernized; on the contrary, Ward-Belmont has increased its national standing tenfold, and is as jealous of the safety and well-being of its students as it has ever been.

In the passing of the years certain changes are bound to take place and the Athletic Department has not been overlooked. Some twenty years ago, in 1932, physical education for girls was limited to only such sports as field hockey, basketball, baseball, track and other similar games. With the increase in interest in sports for women all fields are open and Ward-Belmont has grown accordingly.

First of all the swimming pool was rebuilt. It is now half in-door and half out-door. It is of much greater dimensions than formerly and affords excellent practice for the girls trying out for the Olympics. The high dive is a splendid one and the girls are fast perfecting their breath-taking dives. The pools are open at all hours during the day and evening with a life guard on duty so that at any time the girls feel the need of a refreshing swim they may go in.

Another innovation is the classes in polo. These have been in existence some time and the girls take a great deal of interest. In the past ten years there has been enough interest to have polo tournaments among the clubs just as in the other sports. The string of ponies owned by Ward-Belmont are of the finest.

During the spring vacation, the Athletic Association sponsors a week's stay in Cuba. Plane service is arranged for, and as many of the girls as wish to may go. While there, the girls participate in the annual out-board motor boat races for which they train on their own lake, recently made by the school.

A large arena for ice hockey has been built back up on the hill, which has all been added to the Ward-Belmont estate. The girls are taught to ice skate; the game in all its technicalities is practiced, just like we used to do in field hockey; and then the club tournament played. One of the big events of the year is the annual Ice Carnival—held in-doors of course—similar to that given at Dartmouth.

Come back to Homecoming, and we will show you how we have grown!

In Passing We Present

"How different everything looked on the campus last homecoming. None of the old faces in Senior and Pembroke, among the girls, although there are a few of our old friends who have returned and now hold positions on the faculty.—And the Club Houses—I was actually stunned at the changes—and the T. C. House, my dear, has a frigidaire, which makes it the talk of the campus.

"It really doesn't seem as if I have been away twenty years, but then again because of the modern improvements which have sprung up all over the campus, I am made conscious of the fact that I am no longer of the younger generation.

"And just a word about myself, since you have asked. I, as you probably know, studied in Paris for three years after I graduated from W.-B. in '32, then returned to New York City and worked there in the Interior Decoration Department of Saks. For some time now I have had my own establishment, which specializes in modernistic decorations. It's really perfectly facinating." Ruth Black, '32.

"Yes, you guessed correctly; we have moved into our new home on the sea shore, for the summer, and young Dorothy likes it so well, because there is so much doing for a young sub-deb.

"This year I have not devoted much of my time to my work in the Little Theater Guild, but have been working on, and planning for, Dorothy's season, as she is making her bow to society this next Christmas Eve, in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, which makes both her father and me very happy.

"She has enjoyed her work so very thoroughly, under Miss Townsend during these past six years, that I feel as if I, too, were there again as a student, and feel above all that I had not appreciated the surroundings, and environment of Southern hospitality, which adds so much to one's character.

"Just to make us feel as if we are all school chums together again, I'm going to sign my maiden name—" Sincerely,

DOROTHY ROBERTS, '32.

"Oh yes, I saw Rita Page last week. She's doing settlement work here in Chicago and is truly wrapped up in it.

"This is the first time that I have ever been here on tour, and it's truly the most facinating city. I've spent just hours roaming around seeing the sights—I'm simply in love with the Loop, and all the adorable night clubs, of which I've never seen as many attractive ones before.

"I'm almost sure 'at this point,' that I can make Ward-Belmont this year if nothing unforeseen arises, as I have my concert tours so arranged that I shall be in Nashville the evening of the 21st of this month, and I would love nothing better than to play in chapel the morning of the 22nd. I haven't yet forgotten how I envied the girls who returned and gave speeches on Paris or Women's Vocations, they seemed so very superior to me.

"I hope that I shall see you the morning of the 22nd—" BETH LEE, '33.

"I can imagine how funny it must feel to be back for Homecoming twenty years later, after all the changes and new rules, when we thought it was so very lenient during our two years there.

"You're right, I was thrilled to death when 'Carling' won the Kentucky Derby this year. He's really such a sweet horse, that my husband and I thought that he deserved the honors after all the strenuous training he endured this past winter in Florida.

"Oh yes, bye the bye, 'Lew'—Mary Lewman—was with us in Florida this past January, and she looks just as she did twenty years ago, and is as original as ever, she has had charge of the advertising department of Vogue for the past five years now, aside from the splendid paintings she has done, some of which you have probably seen.

"As for news of myself, I really have none. We're still here in Louisville, and are spending our leisure hours riding and hunting, here and in Miami, too."

MARGARET Sitton WARNER, '32.

" 'Pulver,' you angel, I was so excited to hear from you with one of those classic 'Tell-us-something-about-yourself' letters. It seemed so very much like 1932 to hear from you and I can just see the new Hyphen office. How I long to be there.

"In answer to the above, I can talk nothing but Dude Ranches in the West, when one questions what I am doing with myself. They all seem to be coming along perfectly grand, and all the boys and girls get along beautifully. I am now turning several of them in the southernmost sections, into all-year-round ranches, with a four years college department in each. This, I think, will put them on a still higher basis in the minds of all classes of people. As far as I know 'at this point', mine are the only schools of this type in existence.

"Yes, I shall be there for Homecoming this year, as I am planning to visit Dorothy Cline at that time."

MARJORIE HELENE SHERWOOD, '33.

"Jane my dear, how very exciting to hear from you. I have meant to write you, but have just had my time all taken up with my social duties since my return from spending the winter in Vienna with 'Infant,' while he was studying medicine there.

"To occupy myself during that time I started a salon, to which, to my delight, all the prominent poets of that vicinity came. I enjoyed it more I believe, than anything else I have ever done.

"I have now returned to my penthouse on the top of the Empire State Building, and am doing nothing in particular. I have been thinking seriously about running down there for a week-end, just to see the campus and chat with those of my old friends who are still there."

RUTH-ENGLISH SCHECKELL, '32.

BITS ABOUT 'EM

Ward-Belmont

1932

Some time ago we received word that Delores Moore was in charge of Miss Sisson's and Miss Morrison's camp, but at that time we did not realize that so many Ward-Belmont girls were its patrons. Delores wrote us the other day that Mary Troxel Kelsey and Frances Cain Harrison annually send their offspring there.

Betty Binyon Kennedy has a lovely home in Ft. Worth and insists on entertaining all her old school friends when they are in town. As Dr. Barton used to say, she "upholds the old Texas hospitality."

Ruth Carlin is now teaching Spanish at Ward-Belmont. No doubt Ruth received the "call" during her course in '32.

Oh, yes—and have you heard the new Guthrie Rhapsody which Catherine has just created?

Last month Kathryn Rush made a decided impression on the cynical New York audience when she presented her own interpretation of Evening Becomes Intolerable.

Elise Livingston is now stationed on the Labrador as a result of a request by Sir Wilfred that she take over his work. We hear that she has established a rabbit farm so that the little children in the orphanage may have appropriate playthings.

By the way, we saw Dorris Fish, present editor of the New York Times, and Grace Peckham, the famous international stylist, lunching at Toney's Villa which is rapidly becoming the most popular place along the Avenue.

Do you remember the time a perfectly strange young man requested Rose Morrison for an introduction to Alma Willis? Well, just the other day we again saw them in church, but this time they didn't need Rose because Alma has become Mrs. Smith.

Aileen Reager Barr and her husband were seen lunching in a Chicago tea room the other day.

Martha Helme wrote us that she is still expecting to be married any minute. We wonder what the delay has been, for in the meantime she has made herself a name as an exclusive buyer, with singing as a delightful avocation.

Marjorie Remington has taken over all of the old Alice Foote McDougall places and seems to be most successful. It's now a question of what to do with the business, for she writes us that she is on the verge of her second marriage. We didn't have the first one on record, "Marj," but then we have more trouble than ever with our Alumnæ files, what with Bessie Mai long since departed and now sending little numbers to the day school.

Frances Dean Smith, the new dean of Wellesley College, wrote us that the Ward-Belmont girls transferring are getting better every year.

There are a few of our friends whom we see every day. For instance, Geneva Jones, Happy Hoffman, and Florence Green (sorry but we haven't the new names) call for their daughters every afternoon.

By the way, Ellen Focke has become a famous collector of old manuscripts and first editions. If you happen to hear of any treasures, be sure to let her know.

"Ophie" Colley was always the diplomat, and now she's gone and got herself appointed ambassador to Jugoslavia. So goes Ward-Belmont even to the foreign ports.

If your children are going to be taking gym (and they will be, for gym is still gym, demonstration and all!) you will be glad to know that "Happy" Page is in charge, that Dot Cline, '33 (who won the last Olympic championship), teaches swimming, that Katie and Camilla teach riding, that Dot Hill has basketball, and Gooch will have to be convinced of adequate excuses.

Drop by Courtland, Alabama, sometime and when you see a very majestic mansion in the midst of a grove of oaks, enter, for there you will find our much beloved Annie Kate, the charming hostess, with a lovely family. She may even be able to give you pointers on the newest scientific means of raising children.

Nancy Schumacher is as yet unmarried, but there are rumors afloat to the effect that she is contemplating giving up her busy social life to retire into matrimony.

Jeanne Van Brunt, as new president of the W. C. T. U., states that she is going to do her best to make the national temperance standing higher and higher.

This certainly is new: Helen Conley is the new Dean of Faculty (a kind of educational sponsor, you know).

By the way, our foreign correspondent brings us more news from abroad: Dick Stewart presented her second great exhibit last fall, and the circles have been lavish in their praise of her famous conception of Liberty and Freedom.

There is no use in avoiding the issue: "Sug" Bryan Benedict is the most prominent social leader in Nashville.

Have you heard of Cleo Newman and Frances Parks ('32) lately? They are the greatest financiers in Wall Street. Well—we'll be well represented during the next depression!

Sez Sanco has climbed high since it left the pages of the Hyphen. He is now a special feature for Vanity Fair and he has netted "Tommie" a penthouse above the East River, Chromium-plated frigidaires, indirect lighting, and all!

High School, 1932

Bettie Townsend was caught speeding down a San Antonio main thoroughfare, and she almost startled the authorities (and all the girls who knew Bettie) out of a year's growth.

Here's the lastest about "Boy": she holds the most prominent position that has been offered a woman in the United States. The Secretary of War has just made her admiral of the U. S. air fleet.

Can you imagine what has happened to "Ellie" Sherwood? She and Susie Hughes went into cahoots and opened dog kennels before anyone could interfere. That's a warning to English teachers who insist on spring anthologies.
